THE CIRCLE

Abbot Academy

Andover, Massachusetts

The Senior Class and I, Eloise, salute

Miss Carolyn Goodwin

Because she is our mostly companion.

Mrs. Alexander Crane

Who knows absolutely
Everything about Abbot
And is interested in
People, people, people.

Here's the thing of it. —
Most of the time we learn.

CLASS SONG

Lift us to song, Oh Abbot Blue,
Our purpose shines through you.
To keep for life what we have learned,
And toward good things may we turn.
Swinging along, looking up,
Striving high, Abbot girls,
Our banner green unfurls.

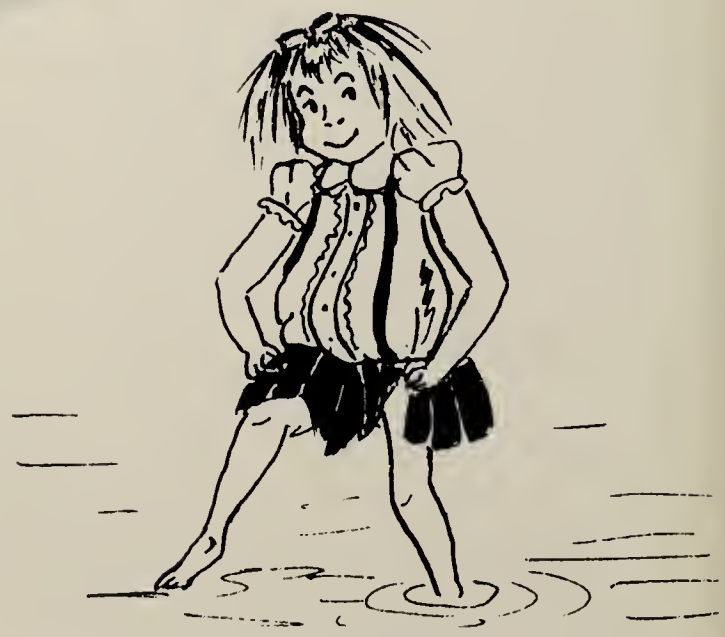
By the sea, by the sea

Gab fest

At last!

Looks good girls



Here's how we had fun, fun, fun at our picnic.

Snow-bunny

I was the only one who got hurt at Intervale.

Dear Johnny, Roy, Sam . .

And they're off in a cloud of snow!

Now what do we do?

What a ghastly hand!

Which way did he go?

THE SENIOR PROM OR A SLOW BOAT TO CHINA

As the last of the crew hopped aboard, The H. M. S. Chopsticks steamed from the shore.

We dined the first eve by candlelight; our laughter echoed into the night.

The Captain's Mate soon sighted land. We danced to the music of a Hong Kong band.

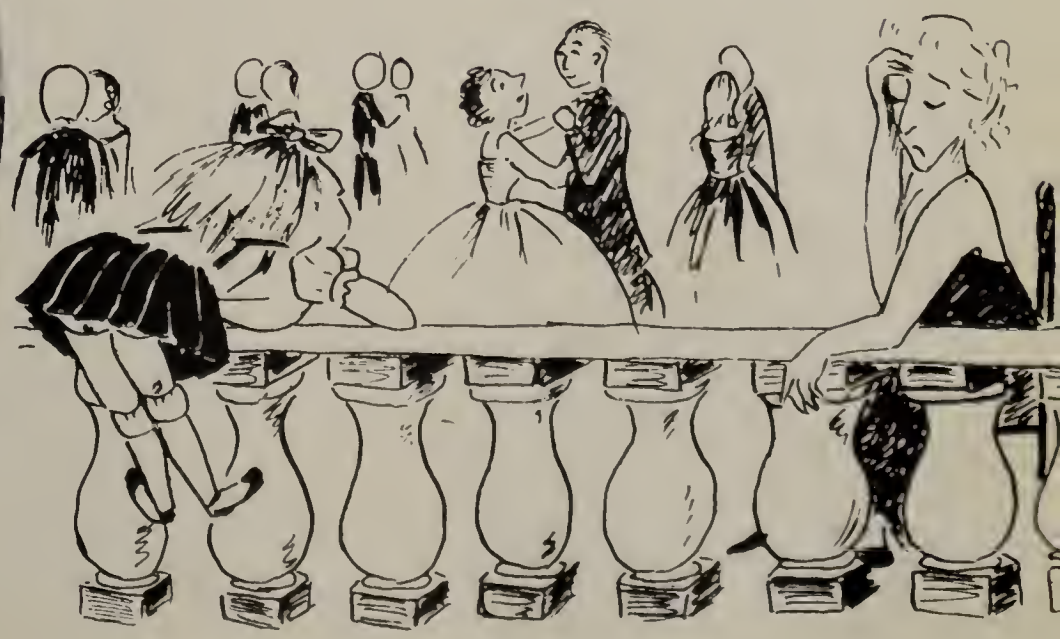
"You are in China," a gong rang out. We saw a Buddha and had no doubt.

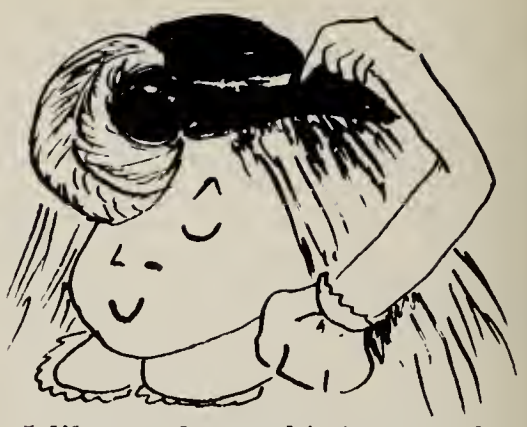
Round Chinese songbirds in harmony clear
We gathered entranced, their humming to hear.

Tea in China of ginger and ale
Refreshed our spirits to continue our sail

Our opium den was a sight to see.
Smiling through smoke, Madame Valerie.

The gong echoed 12; the moon was high.
Our trip was over; Cinderella, Goodbye.





I like to play sophisticated roles.

Judy, you're not listening!

The Homebodies' Hallowe'en.

Oh Mammy, Mammy tell me.

Well, it was like this . . . .

Where's your press card, Yo?

Put your shoe on, Libby.

What beautiful legs you have, my dears.

And they lived happily ever after.

Laughed so hard, ah thought . . . .

Stay down, second O!

What, me worry?

A happy petunia in an onion bed.

Ha! Ha! I've done it and I'm glad.

Little Nausea.

Oh, yes it does!

Two on a basin.

Caught in the act!

Scandal!

We drink to you, Colette.

Pssst, it's the cops!

Well, you've finally made it!

NOT EVERYONE IS A SENIOR.

Senior-Mid talent was marooned on a desert island.

I liked to think about the stars more than my homework.

Shakespeare would have been proud of my performance in "The Tempest".

My source theme was worthy of praise.

I hated my dates at tea dances. They always scrunched my feet.

I knitted Yale scarves for the Co-op in my spare time.

Oh, my! Skipperdee's sneakers put on absolutely too much weight!

At the Bazaar I was in the bag-pipers' way most of the time.

I was more than a spectator in the prep play.

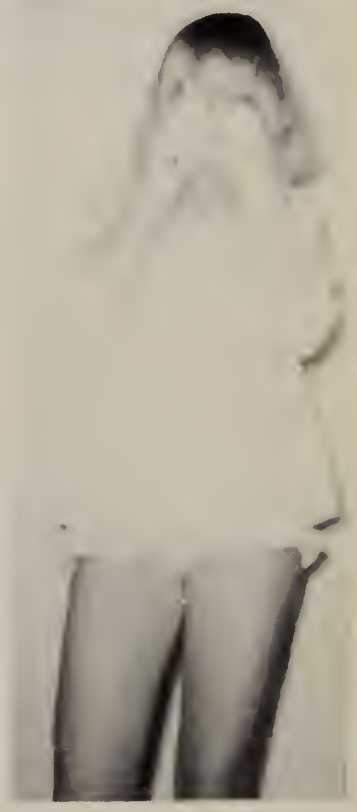
Pajamas?

How do you do?

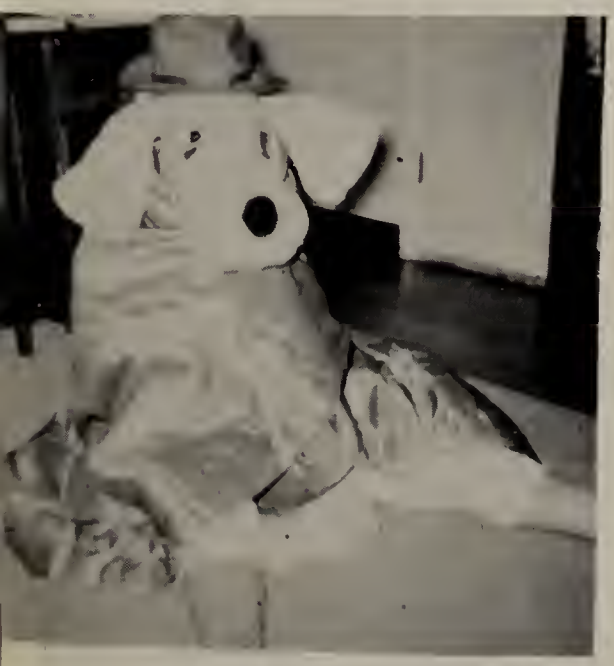
No bathrobe, eh?

Have you auditioned for Ed Sulli

Sunkist?



Who goes there?



And this is my roommate.

One last question, Miss Monroe, . . .

You bet!

I get up at 7:14—
I usually yawn out loud several times.

At breakfast I have to serve.

Then I have to feed
Skipperdee, my turtle.
I keep him under my bed.

Sometimes I take a stick and skidder it along the walls if the corridor is quiet.

After lunch I get my mail.

Then I go to the package room to see if there are any packages for me, ELOISE.

Of course, I go to the food store.
Oooooooooooooo, I love food.

I stop at the front office to see if I got any phone calls.

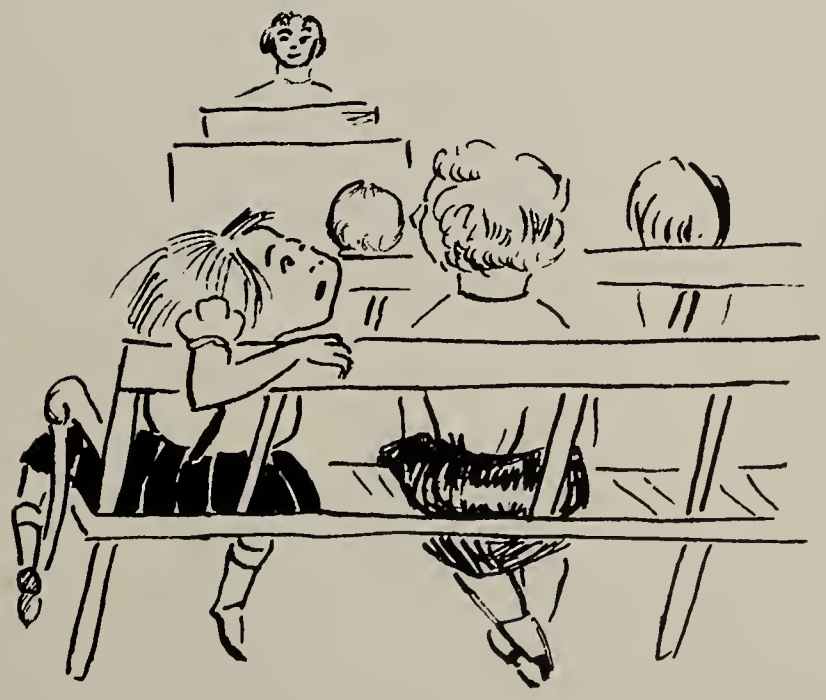
I go to Chapel to sing the hymns.

Sometimes I go to classes. I'm usually late.

The rest of the time I'm supposed to study.

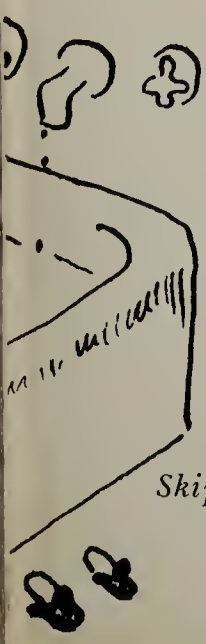
I always have a meeting or something.



Skipperdee and me always go to modern dance.

Then I practice the piano.

After dinner I have to study; then Skipperdee and me go to bed.



Skipperdee and me, we always take a bath.

Fred and Bill drive tractors, shovel snow, and bring me doughnuts.

These people make my day possible.

Gladys gives me mail and sometimes a telephone message.

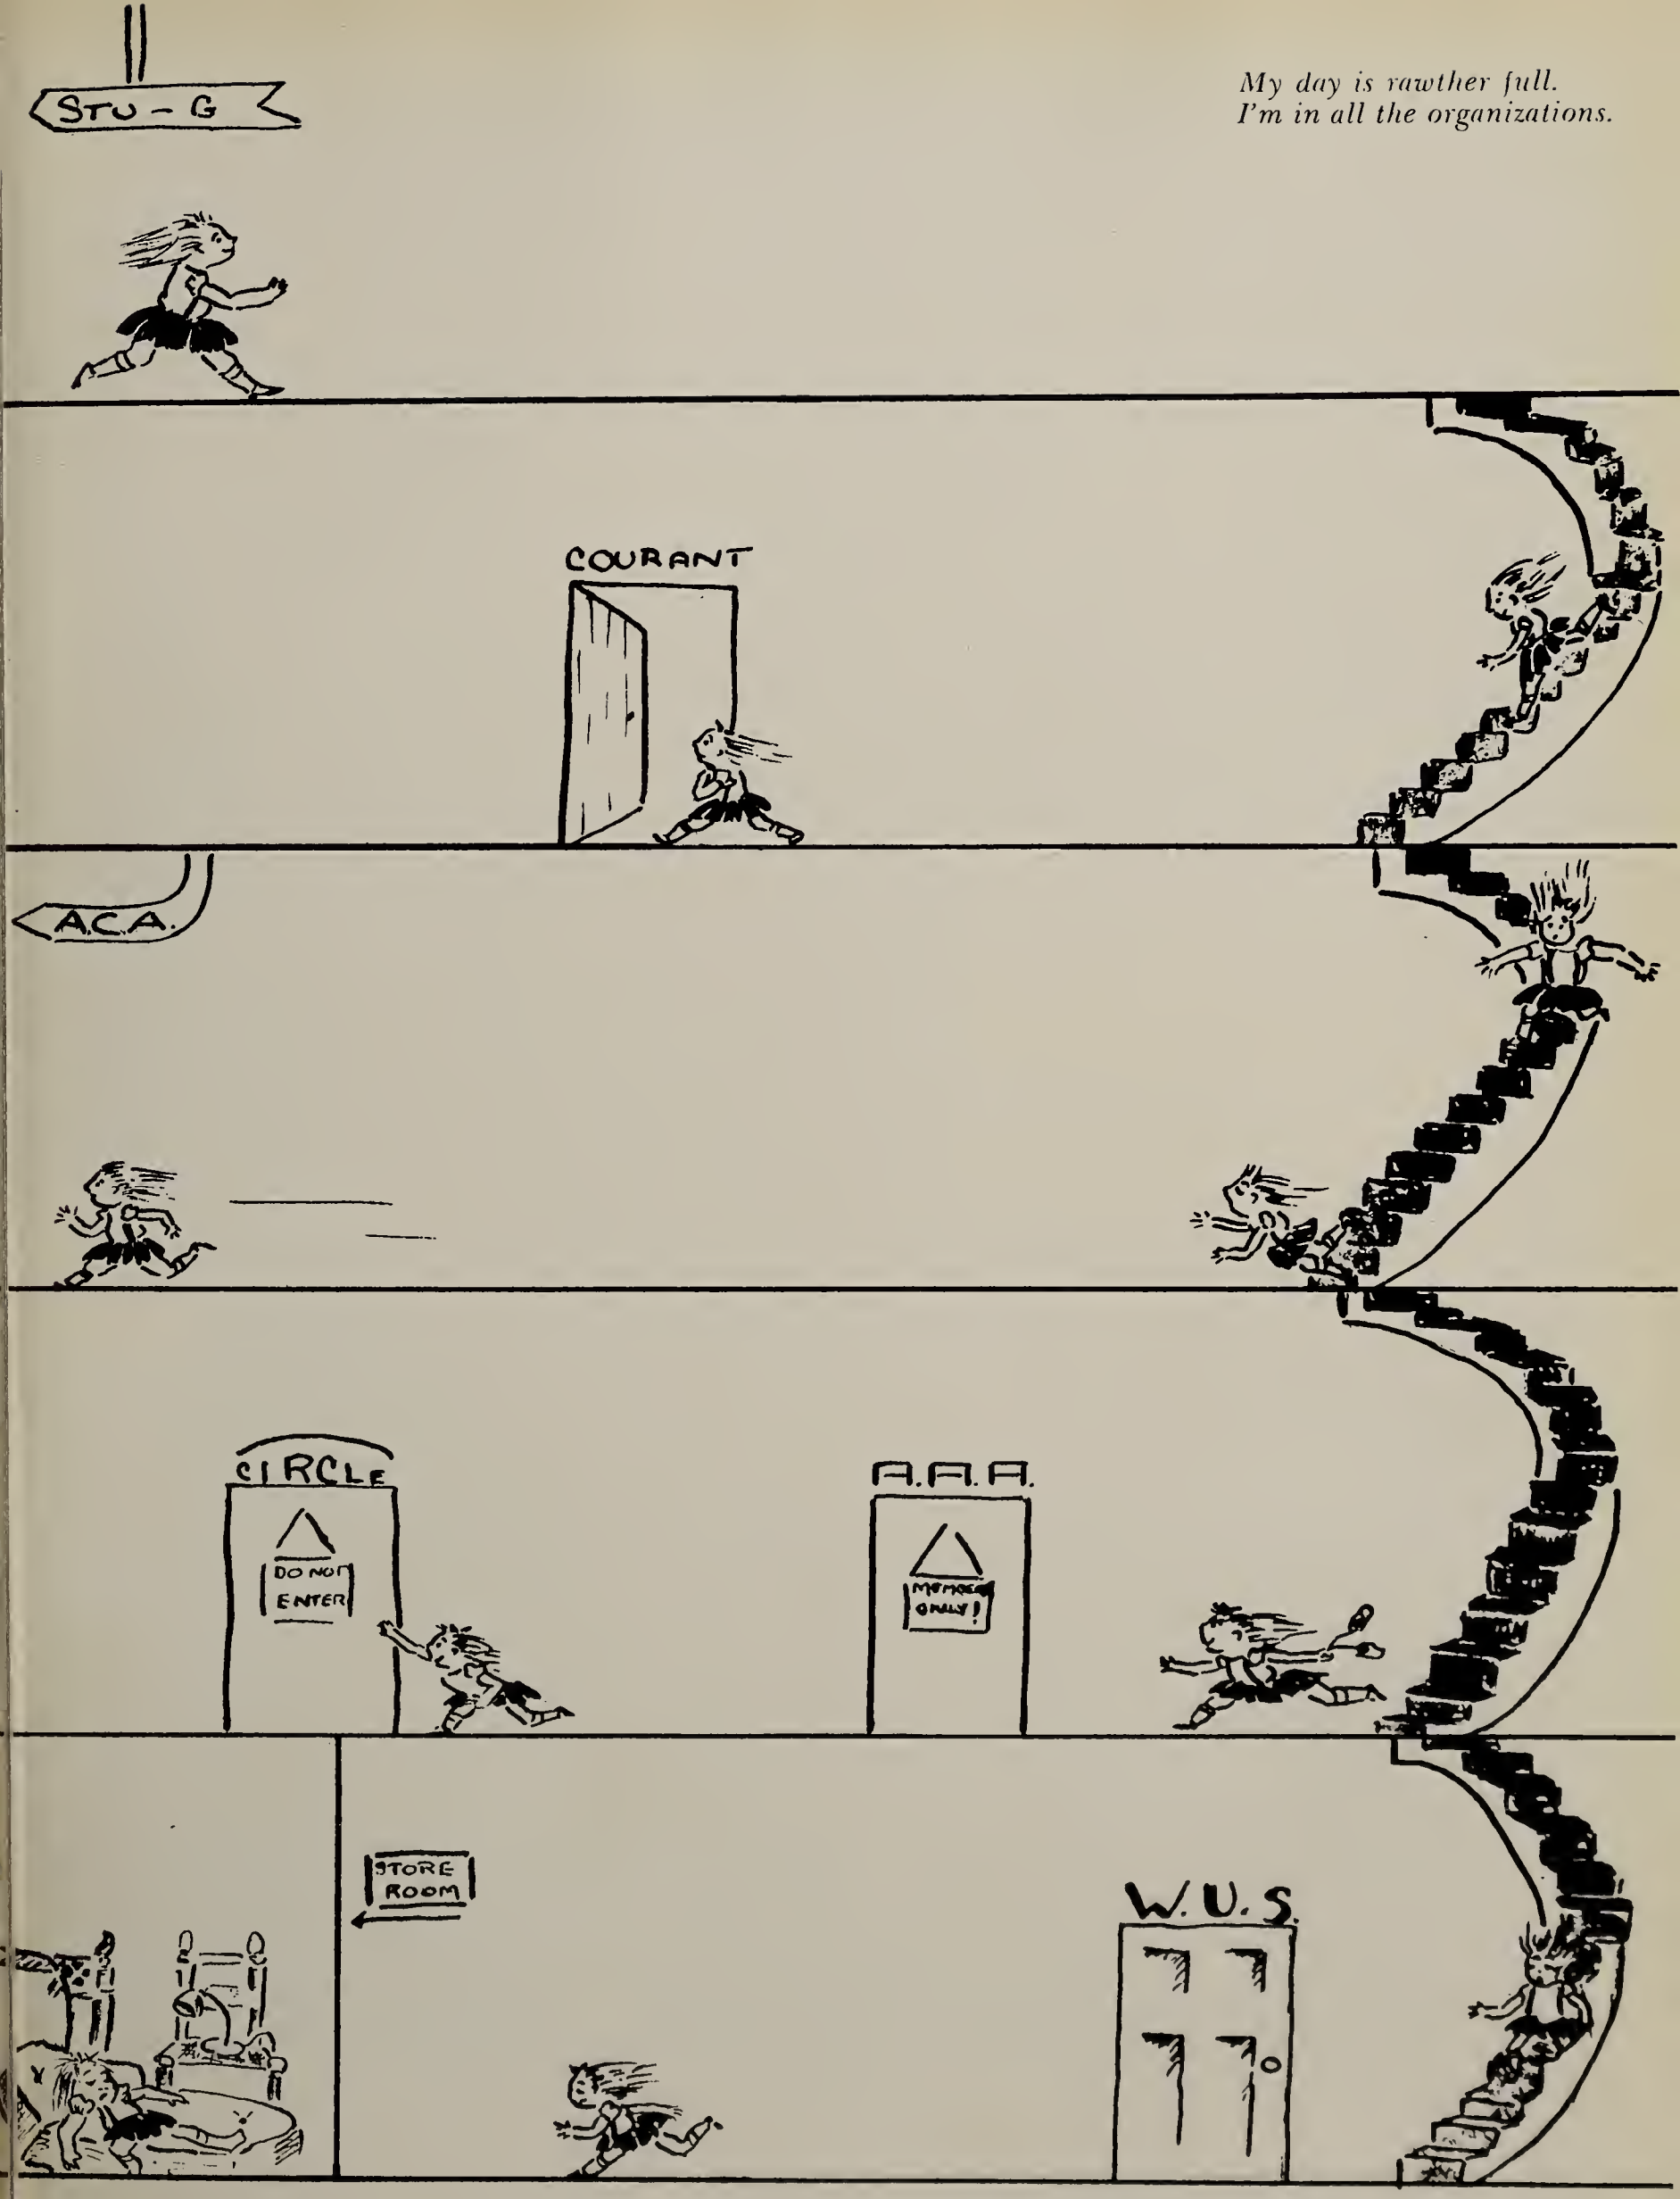
Monsieur Robb takes care of McKeen and helps at concerts.

People who help Mr. Bonde wear large aprons and smile.

Mr. Bonde is my special mealtime companion. He's more fun than room service.

Food is served by others and eaten with relish.

My day is rawther full.
I'm in all the organizations.



Oh my goodness! I'm so busy, busy, busy.
